

Week 8 Lit Example Worksheet

MACBETH: FAIR, FOUL, AND SHIFTING SECURITY

Purpose: Apply Week 8's method to Macbeth. Expose shifting terms and retest the inference with fixed meanings.

Directions: Use the Lit Example Reader. Do not retell the whole plot.

Part 1: Fair and the Greetings

Part 1 Q1: In Passage 1, give two ordinary senses of fair that the language can carry.

Part 1 Q1 ANSWER BOX

Part 1 Q2: Which greetings are present facts, and which are future claims? Why does that difference matter for a stable argument?

Part 1 Q2 ANSWER BOX

Part 2: From Sounding Fair to Acting

Part 2 Q1: Reconstruct the risky inference Macbeth may draw from the witches' words in a middle-term shape (even if informal). Name the term that is doing the linking work.

Part 2 Q1 ANSWER BOX

Part 2 Q2: Explain why that link is an ambiguous middle or term shift rather than a stable proof that he must be king by crime.

Part 2 Q2 ANSWER BOX

Part 3: Security Promises

Part 3 Q1: For “none of woman born shall harm Macbeth,” state Sense A (how Macbeth hears it) and Sense B (a different sense that later undercuts the guarantee).

Part 3 Q1 ANSWER BOX

Part 3 Q2: For the Birnam wood promise, state Sense A and Sense B, then say whether Macbeth’s “That will never be” still follows under both fixed senses.

Part 3 Q2 ANSWER BOX

Part 4: Repair

Part 4 Q1: Rewrite one of the security arguments with fixed meanings so that it no longer falsely guarantees Macbeth's safety.

Part 4 Q1 ANSWER BOX

Part 4 Q2: In one paragraph, explain how Week 8's tool changes a reading of these passages from "magic prophecy" to "unstable terms used as if they were proof."
